

EFRR Mantracking Class

EFRR Docent, Tracker and Naturalist Mike Gibbs

Class is limited to 12 students. RSVP in EFRR Interpretive Center or call: (760) 632-4212

Class Details

- |       |   |
|-------|---|
| What  | Experienced trackers present a one-day course during which students will learn how to anticipate, identify and follow the sign left by persons lost or missing or even those intentionally trying to evade detection. |
| Where | Elfin Forest Recreational Reserve - 8833 Harmony Grove Road, Escondido, CA 92029  |
| When  | 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.,March 16th, 2014.  |
| Cost  | Suggested donation $10 to The Escondido Creek Conservancy  |

Join man and animal tracker Mike Gibbs and fellow trackers, Rick Salmon, Shannon Anderson, Bill Porter, Stacey Miller, Greg Meehan and Bob MacDonald for a fascinating day of mantracking training. Mike has given mantracking training to various military units including the instructors of the Navy's Survival Evasion Resistance and Escape school, to the San Diego Sheriff's Search and Rescue Team academy and to many others.

After two hours of classroom training, three person teams, each lead by an experienced tracker, will spend 6 hours in the field actually tracking down their "subject".

Pack your own lunch (to be eaten in the field on the go), bring water and come prepared to have a great time.